P407 -Cardio-renal

Professor Paddy Mark

¹*Glasgow, ,*

Our aims:

- developing a better understanding of and treatments for the cardiovascular complications of chronic kidney disease
- addressing why patients with kidney disease are at such a high risk of heart problems (approximately 20 times higher than the general public of the same age)
- learning more about why patients with primarily cardiovascular disease develop kidney problems and to find better treatments to prevent this or manage this better
- undertaking multicentre, collaborative studies and clinical trials in cardio-renal medicine to improve cardiovascular outcomes for patients with kidney disease.

Who we are:

We are a national group dedicated to initiating and supporting clinical research in the cardio-renal field. We are delighted to have new members,join us and are interested in studies proposed from out with the group.
